IEW BEHALA 48"

India - 1930

In the early 30's, Indian Electric Works was the main manufacturer of fans in India. I.E.W produced many models, equipped with unpretentious but very sturdy engines, and distinguished by simple and essential forms, which were sold in million of pieces.

Behala 48" and Behala 56", the two IEW models part of the Fantique collection, were widespread throughout the East under British influence. Until not long ago, it was a common sight to find them in working conditions in Southern India railway stations (hundreds within Victoria Station, Bombay's main train station), as well as in hospitals, post offices and barracks in the British colonies.

Guaranteed quality

Fantique's "Period Originals" collection is covered by a 2 year warranty. Hand assembled one by one, the fans are checked and tested individually in each and every components before packaging. Every function is also meticulously tested: from balancing and blades inclination to flow rate, from electric standards to rigorous endurance tests (5 hours at full speed).

Telephone assistance

Our antique fans are mounted in the same manner as commercial models, which is quite simple. We nevertheless recommend that you rely on qualified personnel, to whom Fantique offers telephone assistance free of charge on any issues (not necessarily related to the mounting of the fan), by simply calling the following numbers: +39 06 68802417 or + 39 337 733077.
